

We are excited to share with you an opportunity to spend an evening with pediatrician and author, Dr. Meg Meeker.

Teaching Your Teen To Be Strong In A Tough Culture:

A special presentation for parents of elementary, junior-, and high-school students.

Wednesday, April 29, 2009 @ 7:00 pm

St. Albert the Great Parish Center

3033 Far Hills Avenue, Kettering, OH 45429

Admission Is Free

Directions: <http://www.parents4real.org/meeker.html>      Questions: rprier@elizabethnewlife.org

Every day in America, 8,000 teens become infected with a new STD. This year alone, up to 3 million of those infected with STDs will be 14—19 year-olds. Sexually transmitted diseases are at an all-time high in our nation and this epidemic is killing our kids. Dr. Meg Meeker, as a practitioner of pediatric and adolescent medicine, has served on the frontlines of the STD epidemic for more than 20 years. She sees STDs affect one-third of her patients in her suburban neighborhood in Michigan.

Dr. Meeker explores the patterns of political correctness and marketing hype that have caused this tidal wave of disease. She explains how parents and other adult figures can properly take initiative to reverse the damage to our nation's teens. Her one-hour presentation will be followed by a Q & A session.

Dr. Meeker has authored the following books: Your Kids At Risk, Epidemic: How Teen Sex Is Killing Our Kids, Boys Should Be Boys, and Strong Fathers, Strong Daughters. She has been featured on The Today Show, Dateline, The O'Reilly Factor, Hartland With John Kasich, and Judith Regan Tonight.

For more information about Dr. Meg Meeker, go to www.MegMeekerMD.com.

www.saveit4real.com

